... and in person one year following discharge. The interviews provided information regarding recovery plus detailed information regarding services received, their charges, and expected source of payment. Information was also obtained from health care providers and third - party payers to verify and supplement the information regarding charges provided by the study participants. Selected information...of the total charge per service category was obtained from the provider if available. If information from the provider was not available, the amount of the charge reported by the third - party payer was used. If neither information from the provider nor the third - party payer was available, as was the case for the 10% of study patients who did not...
